1 Ring Fencing Guideline

The AER released its Ring-fencing Guideline (Guideline) for Electricity Distribution in November 2016. The Guideline requires that all electricity Distribution Network Service Providers (DNSPs) must be fully compliant as soon as reasonably practicable and no later than 1 January 2018.

Ring-fencing separates the regulated and contestable parts of a DNSP's network business via legal separation and functional separation obligations. Ring-fencing aims to provide a level playing field for third party providers in new and existing markets for contestable services. The AER's Guideline recognises that strict adherence to the ring-fencing obligations, in some circumstances, might result in outcomes that are not in the interests of consumers. This is why the Guideline makes provision for ring-fencing waivers. Waivers provide the ring-fencing framework with flexibility by allowing DNSPs exemptions, subject to AER approval.

Clause 5.3.2 of the Guideline states that, in assessing a waiver application and deciding whether to grant a waiver (subject to any conditions) or refuse to grant a waiver, the AER must have regard to:

- i. the National Electricity Objective
- ii. the potential for cross-subsidisation and discrimination if the waiver is granted or refused, and
- iii. whether the benefit, or likely benefit, to electricity consumers of the DNSP complying with the obligation (including any benefit, or likely benefit, from increased competition) would be outweighed by the cost to the DNSP of complying with that obligation.

AusNet Services waiver applications and the AER's reasons for approving these waivers can be found on the AER website here (<https://www.aer.gov.au/networks-pipelines/ring-fencing/ring-fencing-waivers/ausnet-services-ring-fencing-waiver-application-july-2017>). The AER has assessed waiver applications submitted by AusNet Services and approved the waivers set-out in section 1.1 below.
